Manitoba Company Ranked Among the Best in Canada

Protegra recognized for high quality information technology solutions

Winnipeg, Canada – Protegra, a business consulting and information technology solutions company, continues to make strides in the technology sector and now ranks among other industry leaders in the 2008 Branham300 listing. Each year Branham Group Inc. publishes the definitive listing of the Top 300 information technology companies in Canada based on fiscal revenues.

Protegra combines knowledge of organizational process with information technology to provide superior business solutions. "Through an understanding of our clients' business, we use information technology solutions as one way to achieve their objectives," says Wadood Ibrahim, CEO of Protegra. "This recognition is a great honour and is only possible because of everyone at Protegra and our clients."

Protegra appears on the list for the first time as number 220 among Canada's Top 300 ICT Companies.

The Branham300 listing is known as the most comprehensive and trusted source for the health of the Canadian information technology sector. It covers the breadth of innovative technology offered by Canadian companies and the contribution these companies make to the economy both provincially and nationally.

"The inclusion of Protegra on this year's Branham300 continues to further exemplify the high caliber of companies that make it onto this list," says J. Wayne Gudbranson, CEO of Branham Group Inc. "We are delighted to have such leaders emerging from Manitoba and look forward to seeing Protegra participate in the ranking for years to come."

Protegra experts solve complex business problems and tough IT issues in both government and private sectors including, manufacturing, financial services and agriculture. Services include business performance consulting, executive-level innovation workshops, strategic planning, software design, implementation and maintenance. Protegra works with clients across Canada, in the United States, Europe and Asia.
